NEW QUESTION: 1

ABC Corporation has recently hired a skilled wireless LAN security consultant to design, configure, install, and test a wireless LAN security implementation. The security implementation consists of 802.1X/PEAP, IPsec, and SSH2 solutions using the strongest available encryption. The security policy is very strict about use of the software solutions, and all end users have been sufficiently trained. When an unauthorized user tries to access the corporate WLAN from the parking lot, he cannot circumvent the existing security solutions. What are the next two steps the unauthorized user could take in order to penetrate the system's security? (Choose two)

- A. Perform an RF jamming attack against the WIPS
- B. Mount an email virus campaign to unlock access points from the wired LAN segment
- C. Perform a social engineering attack against help desk personnel
- D. Perform a distributed Internet crack against a single access point
- E. Place a rogue access point on ABC Corporation's network

Answer: C,E

Explanation:

Due to the level of security implemented, any attack against an access point will be futile. An RF jamming attack will not penetrate the network, but rather it will deny network access to authorized users. Since the security methods implemented require usernames and passwords, a social engineering attack could be possible. By placing a rogue access point on the wired network, the wireless network can be successfully penetrated by circumventing existing security mechanisms.

NEW QUESTION: 2

Which is true of positively skewed distributions?

- I). They have a limited, but frequent, upside.
- II). Their downside is less frequent but more unlimited.
- III). They are attractive to investors because their mean is larger than their median.

- A. II
- B. III
- C. I and III

Answer: B

Explanation:

I and II are false. The correct statements for them would be: 1) positively skewed distributions have a limited, but frequent, downside, and 2) they have a less frequent, but more unlimited, upside. III is true.

NEW QUESTION: 3

ISO 14001 is a standard for environmental management systems. It is based on the PDCA cycle. Which of the following is NOT a part of the PDCA cycle?

- A. Plan: Establishing the environmental policy and objectives, and planning the activities to achieve them.
- B. Do: Implementing the planned activities.
- C. Check: Monitoring and measuring the performance against the objectives, and reporting the results.
- D. Act: Taking actions to improve the performance.
