NEW QUESTION: 2
Several users' computers are no longer responding normally and sending out spam email to the users' entire contact list. This is an example of which of the following?
A. Botnet
B. Worm outbreak
C. Logic bomb
D. Trojan virus
Answer: B
Explanation:
A worm is similar to a virus but is typically less malicious. A virus will usually cause damage to the system or files whereas a worm will usually just spread itself either using the network or by sending emails.
A computer worm is a standalone malware computer program that replicates itself in order to spread to other computers. Often, it uses a computer network to spread itself, relying on security failures on the target computer to access it. Unlike a computer virus, it does not need to attach itself to an existing program. Worms almost always cause at least some harm to the network, even if only by consuming bandwidth, whereas viruses almost always corrupt or modify files on a targeted computer.
