Explanation:

Session timeout is an event that occurs when a session is invalidated if a user does not use the session for a specified period of time. Session timeout can be set in the following two ways:

1.Setting timeout in deployment descriptor: This can be done by specifying timeout between the `<session-timeout>` tags as follows:

```
<session-config>
<session-timeout> 10 </session-timeout>
</session-config>

This will set the time for session timeout to ten minutes.

2.Setting timeout programmatically: This will set the timeout for a specific session. The syntax for setting the timeout programmatically is as follows:

```
session.setMaxInactiveInterval(10*60)
```

In this method, the timeout is specified in seconds. Hence, this will set the time for session timeout to ten minutes.
